FOR WINTER

“Winter is the time for comfort, for good food and warmth, for the touch of a friendly hand and for a talk beside the fire: it is the time for home.”

Edith Sitwell

Preface

Lights that twinkle against the dark starry sky; the snowflakes that fall gracefully, dusting the frosty ground and log fires that fill the home with warmth, yes, winter has arrived. It brings with it the most magical moments to enjoy. Precious times that we know are an important part to what makes a house a home. We've delved into these moments, from the power of fluffy socks to keep your feet snug through the cold weather, to a fitted kitchen perfect for entertaining during the festivities. Discover a playlist that is ideal for the season and explore what Christmas looks like in the capital along with so much more in this edition.

Winter is truly a season of emotions. Joyous family gatherings, exuberance ignited by mesmerising wintry displays and bitter sweet sorrows of waving goodbye to the year and diving into a new one. In this, our fourth edition of 'Moments', we have endeavoured to wrap all these feelings of winter through our photography and words, coupled with home décor inspiration.

We'd love to hear your thoughts on Moments for Winter, please email moments@hammonds-uk.com. Perhaps you've tried the noodle recipe in celebration of the Chinese New Year or have some photos from a wintery walk; we'd love to see them.

A Winter Escape To London

EMBRACE THE FESTIVE FEELING WITH A FUN FAMILY TRIP TO THE CAPITAL AT CHRISTMAS TIME.

London can be a truly magical place during the winter months. Get lost in the hustle and bustle, see the iconic monuments and of course during the Christmas countdown, there is so much to see and do you may struggle to fit it all in.

Get into the festive spirit at Winter Wonderland, visit Santa and the elves in his grotto and revel in the amazing Ice Kingdom with deep sea ice sculptures including mermaids, gods and sea creatures. From the -10 degree icy walkthrough, warm up at the Bavarian Village with a Bratwurst, mulled wine or a hot chocolate. See even more spectacles at the Zippos Circus, Cinderella on Ice ▷▷ and Cirque Berserk.

If you enjoy the hustle and bustle of London shopping, head to Regent Street to see the magical Christmas lights. Explore Liberty London department store, with their amazing collection of festive decorations. Take the kids into Hamleys Toy Store and let them be dazzled by the wonderful wintry displays, although you may not be able to leave without the promise of a Christmas present.

You can't beat a beautiful backdrop while skating along the ice and Somerset House has to be at the top! An eighteenth century architectural masterpiece, originally the site of a Tudor palace extended with Victorian wings is now a fantastic tourist destination with an ice rink erected in the courtyard during the winter months.

For a wintry walk venture to Battersea Park then head along the bank where you'll be greeted by Albert Bridge. At night time the lights look truly magical against the dark sky, a great photo opportunity. So if you're visiting London for a winter getaway, you're sure to be in for some amazing sights and fantastic activities to get you in the festive mood.

The Christmas Tree

EXPLORING THE ORIGINS AND SOME FUN FACTS ABOUT THE MUCH LOVED TRADITION.

Walking through the rows of evergreens, appraising each one for the perfect selection, before standing it proudly within the home adorned with beautiful decorations, marks the start of the festive period. A ritual continued each year by many, yet with our own unique memories from childhood.

Germany is often credited with starting the tradition in the 16th century, when devout Christians brought the trees into the home for decoration. However, some roots go back even further. The winter solstice was celebrated by the early Romans with a feast called the Saturnalia, in honour of Saturn, the god of agriculture. It marked the shortest day and the longest night was over, and soon the sun would return to the farms and orchards. As part of this celebration, the Romans would decorate their homes and temples with evergreen branches traditionally known as boughs. The use of the evergreen to represent eternal life during winter was also used by the ancient Egyptians, Chinese and Hebrews. Christmas tree decorating in Britain was first started by the Royal family in the early 19th century, which descended into wealthier families in the 1840s. By the mid-1920s it was a familiar feature to many households in the UK.

Trafalgar Square in London hosts a 20 metre tall tree display, donated to the people of Britain every year by the city of Oslo in Norway ever since 1947. The tree is a token of gratitude for the British support to Norway during the Second World War.

So, if you celebrate Christmas with a fresh tree or an artificial one, enjoy gathering around it with your family this year, with perhaps a little more knowledge of when it all started and why.

Fluffy Socks

*There's a magical cure to look to when the weather turns cold and grim,
When the ice crystals form on each blade of grass and the winter winds nip at your skin,*

*Step over the threshold of your welcoming home after a long hard day in the cold,
Then use this cure to help you relax
and let your mind unfold,*

*Slip and slide those icy toes into a fluffy felt lined embrace,
Let the fabric melt your troubles away,
as a smile grows on your face,*

*Warm and snug, their magical powers
make you feel complete,
A mug of hot tea, the perfect company alongside your happy, comfy feet,*

*It's a simple thing, so humble and pure,
surprisingly underrated, Whether patterned or plain, their power's the same; cosiness concentrated,*

*Nestle your feet, sit back, relax and take some time for you,
A great book to read, will indeed,
help this process too,*

*So next time you're caught in a thunderstorm, soaked right through to your core,
Ensure you have a soft, fluffy pair of socks to pull out from your drawer.*

Perfectly Painted And Ready To Entertain

FROM BRIEF, DESIGN
TO VERDICT. WE GO
INSIDE THE GREGORY
FAMILY KITCHEN.

THE BRIEF

Mr and Mrs Gregory wanted a kitchen redesign that would truly transform the heart of their home. The key design element they requested was shaker style, painted with a colour that reflected the light and felt welcoming. Storage solutions that made the best use of all the space available was a must, in the design of their new fitted kitchen. ▷▷

THE DESIGN

Mr and Mrs Gregory were drawn towards Croft, a shaker style kitchen, with a painted finish and contemporary design.

Following from the brief to lighten up the space, the couple were advised on all the colour options available by expert designer Danny Simonsohn; and together they chose the perfect paint palette for their kitchen transformation. Pebble grey was selected as the colour to frame the cabinet doors, creating a unique contrast against the the kitchen fascias, to be painted in dove. Alabaster white was also used on the inset door frames of the glass units.

A breakfast bar incorporated in the design of the fitted kitchen, adds extra seating, perfect for dining on the go and more worktop space when preparing meals.

A tall set of cleverly designed cupboards along the far wall of the main kitchen area, not previously used to its full potential, has been utilised perfectly in the design. Enclosed is a large tandem larder unit and discretely hidden fridge freezer.

Adding a touch of glamour to the room - a Quartz Strata worktop with a white mirror effect gives a luxurious feel to the kitchen redesign; perfect for entertaining, reflecting the light in the evening from overhead spotlights. A decadent 30mm worktop adds an extra depth of lux to the overall look of the kitchen.

Before

THE VERDICT

Mr and Mrs Gregory told us, "We're really happy, it adds so much light to the room and the storage solutions are great. We love it! Danny our designer was fantastic and we would definitely recommend a Hammonds kitchen".

Looking Forward To 2018

A NEW YEAR HAS DIFFERENT MEANINGS FOR ALL OF US.

A lot can happen in a year and there is often so much to be thankful for. Marriages, graduations, new births are all on the list to raise a glass to. Perhaps you are thankful for the little things, like a new found hobby you enjoy and love. It is good to look back and appreciate these achievements in life. Some of us may be looking back with a heavy heart, remembering those we have lost. Remember them well, the happiness they brought to the world and the memories they imprinted on you. Take a deep breath and feel a wave of courage embrace you as 2018 approaches. Think about the plans you have to look forward to in the New Year. Perhaps a holiday or a promise to yourself to take on something new. The potential is great, so hit the ground running, throw what you can at 2018 and reap the rewards. We're all different; we all have different goals, whatever you have achieved and set your sights on, be proud and strut on into the fantastic New Year.

Southern Road Trip

A VISIT TO OUR SOUTH COAST
SHOWROOMS AND THEIR BEAUTIFUL SURROUNDINGS.

Our recently rejuvenated showrooms along the south coast have brought a fresh variety of new fitted furniture displays to the region. Within beautiful Hampshire, just outside the city of Southampton is our showroom in Hedge End Trade Park. Also, just the other side of the New Forest, past the Dorset border is our newly refurbished concession in Christchurch.

Local to Hedge End, there's lots to do and explore within county of Hampshire. Just down the road is Manor Farm Country Park, where you can visit the adorable animals including the pigs, cows, chickens and donkeys. Learn all about the history of the location with the Victorian kitchen and traditional farm machinery at work. Over the festive period there's an Elf Training school, where the families can enjoy making Christmas crafts and help the Elves find Father Christmas' lost presents in their trail.

Another popular attraction in Hedge End is the Berry Theatre, performing plays, pantos, choirs and musical masterpieces. Through December and January enjoy wonderful wintry shows including Santa's Little Trolls, a fun filled tale entertaining for the whole family.

A short drive into the city centre of Southampton there's a spectrum of great attractions, from museums such as the Seacity Museum and Solent Sky to the bustling Westquay Shopping Centre, filled with top brands and modern restaurants.

Whether you like a short wonder with the family or an adventurous hike, the beautiful New Forest National Park has trails to suit all. View the deer and ponies that roam free, or explore the ancient woodlands and clifftop walks.

On the other side of the forest you'll find yourself in the lovely town of Christchurch. Nestled on the coast, the town's harbour is a popular destination to sit, relax and watch the boats bob along the water. Go for a stroll ▷▷ around the Christchurch castle ruins, dating back to the 12th century. Within you'll find the Tower and Norman House that still remain.

For a great weekend away, why not explore the Hampshire and Dorset south coast and visit our newly refurbished showrooms along the way, where you'll be greeted with a warm drink and a friendly smile.

A Chat With The Product Manager

AN INSIGHT INTO THE DEVELOPMENT OF OUR FURNITURE.

With a clear passion for his role, and a cheerful persona complementing our head office team, we were excited to get to know more about our Product Manager, Lee Burridge. We uncover the roots behind the wealth of knowledge he holds, built from 12 years of service at the company.

What is a typical day in the life of a Product Manager at Hammonds Furniture?

Every day is quite varied, depending on the time of year and progress of any projects. However a standard day may consist of producing and analysing stats based on the previous week's sales – this will be volume, value and breakdown of range and colours. This helps to see any shifts in trends and fashions, particularly if any range or finish is dropping in sales. Following this I may check some inspirational or competitor websites, to keep up to date with any offerings in terms of promotions or products they may have to ensure we don't miss anything. In addition, I work on the current project which may be a new range, colour or product we are creating.

Why do you think it's important to have a Product Manager in a business?

It's important in order to stay up to date and move forward with the times. There are so many competitors in the marketplace now that it is more difficult than ever to stand out and as such we need to be as current as possible. It's my job alongside others to monitor the market for any up and coming trends and to identify any gaps in the marketplace that we can take advantage of. I also work to ensure that any changes to products or new releases are communicated and managed to completion.

Lee Burridge with a light grey sample following a successful new finish launch.

Hammonds recently launched a new light grey tone, could you give us some more detail?

We have seen a massive move towards all shades of grey tones over the past couple of years – it's a lovely finish as it adds some warmth whilst remaining quite simple. It is a fantastic base to all styles and colours of décor. At the time of conception we only offered Harpsden in painted grey finishes, so offering it across 6 more of our ranges, makes it accessible to all tastes, styles and budgets.

What sources of inspiration do you use to stay up to date with the trends of the industry?

Social media has been a great source of inspiration for both products and trends, in particular sites such as Pinterest and Instagram. I also use blog sites such as Houzz and the monthly KBB (Kitchen, Bedrooms & Bathrooms) review magazine to keep up to date with the news on suppliers, competitors and the marketplace.

Libretto range in light grey.

A Wintry Woodland Walk

A WALK AMONGST THE SLEEPING WOODS CAN HELP BRUSH OFF THE FEELING OF WINTER IDLENESS.

It's sometimes easy to hibernate during the winter months, reclusing into a nest of duvet covers and comfy clothes. Dark nights and cold winds trigger a shiver down your spine that can easily turn you towards a hot bath. However, if you happen to find yourself feeling a little cramped and in need of stretching your legs, a woodland walk could be just the trick to combat winter dormancy. Wrap up the kids in their favourite scarves and gloves, pick out the woolly hat for your other half and head out into the woods. Hear the crunch of the frosty fallen

“There is a serene and settled majesty to woodland scenery that enters into the soul and delights and elevates it, and fills it with noble inclinations”

Washington Irving.

leaves beneath your boots as you stride together. Gaze up at the bare finger-like branches stretching up into the sky. Breathe in the crisp air, filling your lungs and awakening your body. The chilly noses of your family turning redder in the cold can easily be comforted by a kiss. Be enchanted by the hovering wisps of fog that linger low along the clearings and perhaps take a picture or two. A memory of the time you spent together appreciating the coldest season; something to look back on when the sun starts shining brighter, bringing with it new leases of life.

A Visit To The Mills

HOW A LITTLE HAVEN WAS CREATED FROM START TO FINISH.

THE BRIEF

Mr and Mrs Mills came to Hammonds looking for unique ways to create the most storage in their master bedroom that displayed a timeless, >> fashionable and clean aesthetic. Alongside wardrobes, the couple were looking for a bespoke fitted chest of drawers to sit at the end of the bed, with an open space to hold a television box inside.

THE DESIGN

The couple felt Seton, with its shaker style that holds a timeless yet traditional design, with a crisp white colour finish meant the room would look fresh and clean. Expert designer, Judith Morton drew up the fitted furniture design of the bedroom that included top boxes, double hanging rails and fitted bedside cabinets. A bespoke TV cabinet, with drawers beneath would give the couple more storage space with the TV resting on top. Whilst not overpowering the room, the furniture would provide the perfect frame to a cosy sanctuary, that the couple could recharge in after a long day.

THE VERDICT

Mr and Mrs Mills told us - "We're very happy with our new Hammonds bedroom. It's great that we can fit so much in thanks to the storage space. The design feels modern yet timeless, exactly what we hoped for from the finished bedroom".

Book Club

THERE'S NOTHING BETTER THAN GETTING ABSORBED IN THE PAGES OF A GREAT READ.

Escape from the cold into the pages of an enchanting story. A hot drink and a fluffy blanket will create the perfect setting on a dark wintry evening. If you love a good book as much as us, we suggest heading on over to our book club blogs and seeing our recommended reads for each month. Below are our latest reviews, visit www.hammonds-uk.com/blog for more.

The Snow Child – Eowyn Ivey

Jack and Mabel have made a fresh start, the wilderness of Alaska in the 1920s. Unexpectedly, a lonely little girl mysteriously appears on their land, just when Jack and Mabel were wishing to put their hurtful past behind them. Can they show compassion to this newcomer? The Snow Child is a magical story that brings the harsh yet beauty of the Alaskan landscape to life. Author Eowyn Ivey's beautiful descriptions and realistic characterisations makes this book difficult to put down once you have picked it up.

Coming Home to the Comfort Food Café – Debbie Johnson

Teenage rebel Martha and godmother Kate are making a fresh new start in the picturesque village of Budbury in Dorset. Escaping the pain of their past, the pair find refuge in the listening ears of the quirky characters at the café. When Martha's absent father unexpectedly appears, surprising them both, they both lean on the friendly support of the comfort food café. This book is incredibly heart-warming. The characters at the café are highly enjoyable and very easy to fall in love with. A highly recommended read.

Northern Lights – Philip Pullman (Great for younger readers)

In a parallel universe where science, technology and magic are entwined, Lyra Belacqua, a young orphan lives in Oxford. Her life involves climbing the rooftops of Jordan College and keeping out of the way of the scholars. When children start mysteriously going missing, snatched by 'The Gobblers', Lyra finds herself chasing after her missing best friend. A quest that takes her to the arctic where witches and ice bears roam. The first of a series of three, this book is beautifully written and incredibly enchanting. Originally published in 1995 this well-known book, and series, is a thoroughly enjoyable classic.

A Traditional Family Board Game

IF A BOARD GAME COULD SPEAK, IT WOULD TELL YOU THE GREATEST FAMILY STORIES.

Undoubtedly, a tradition that resonates through every household is a game at Christmas time. Some families buy a brand new one every year to add to the collection. Others rely on family favourites, reciting who will choose each coloured counter off by heart. Some games are so ingrained as a family pastime, inherited with each generation, that the board itself counts as an honorary member of the family. Throughout the years, backgammon has played its role in lots of these family traditions, being an old fashioned yet time-honoured game. A game of chance and also of skill; it can have two players staring at the board for hours, abruptions of friendly frustration and laughter as counters get caught out and have to return back to the start. The game starts with counters placed accordingly along the spikes, the aim being to remove your counters before your opponent removes theirs from the board. With each roll of dice you decide which counters to move along, the most strategic and luckiest player wins. If you have never played before, it could be the perfect time to discover the somewhat forgotten board game, perhaps it could be the start of a new tradition.

A Toast

REFLECTING BACK ON THE YEAR WITH APPRECIATION AND GRATITUDE.

As the final days of 2017 draw in, we're reflecting back on this momentous year. With this, our fourth edition of Moments, we appreciate how far we've come since our first edition in spring. We've learnt so much not just about what our readers are keen to hear but by delving more into the company with articles such as 'A day in the life of an upholsterer', 'A day in the life of a designer' and 'A day in the life of a Product Manager'; we've taken a journey to understand the various cogs that drive our company forward.

We'd like to take this opportunity to say a wholehearted thank you, from the moment we welcomed you through our showroom doors, we truly appreciate the interest you've taken in Hammonds.

We are grateful for the customers who welcomed us in to their homes to take real photography, meaning we have been able to demonstrate our craftsmen's skilled work. What's more, we wanted to say thank you to all the staff that have given their extra time to help us put the first four editions of the magazine together. Our list of gratitude is endless, but there's champagne to be sipped so let's conclude this toast on a final happy note.

Cheers to you, we wish you a very happy new year.

Vegan Noodles

CELEBRATE THE CHINESE NEW YEAR BY COOKING UP THIS DELICIOUS ORIENTAL DISH.

2018 will be the year of the Dog after the year of the Rooster for 2017. The Chinese zodiac symbol for Dog represents loyalty and honesty; the ancient zodiac says that people born in the year of the Dog possess these traits as well as being smart, friendly and have a strong sense of responsibility. To celebrate the Chinese New Year, we recommend this Vegan noodle recipe from Jamie Oliver. It's incredibly moreish and packs a punch of flavour.

Ingredients:

200g thin rice noodles	groundnut oil, or vegetable oil
300g mixed oriental mushrooms, such as oyster, shitake and enoki, cleaned	1 teaspoon cornflour
2 cloves of garlic	2 tablespoons low-salt soy sauce
1 fresh red chilli	1 tablespoon agave syrup
1 thumb-sized piece of ginger	1 teaspoon sesame oil
200g courgettes	½ tablespoon rice wine, or dry sherry
½ bunch of fresh coriander	100g baby spinach
6 spring onions	2 limes, to serve sambal, or hot chilli sauce, to serve

Method

1. Cook the noodles according to packet instructions, drain well, rinse under cold running water, then set aside. Finely slice or tear the mushrooms, leaving any smaller ones whole. Peel the garlic and deseed the chilli, then finely slice. Peel the ginger and trim the courgettes, then slice both into matchsticks. Pick the coriander leaves and set aside, then finely slice the stalks. Trim and finely slice the spring onions, reserving the green part for later.
2. Heat a good lug of oil in a large wok over a high heat, then add the mushrooms and fry for 3 to 4 minutes, or until slightly softened. Add the chopped garlic, chilli, ginger, courgette, coriander stalks and the white part of the spring onions. Fry for a further 3 minutes, or until softened and lightly golden.
3. Meanwhile, combine the cornflour and 2 tablespoons of water, then mix in the soy, agave syrup, sesame oil and rice wine or sherry. Stir the mixture into the pan and cook for a further 3 minutes, or until thickened.
4. Roughly chop and add the spinach along with the noodles. Toss well to warm through, then tear in most of the coriander leaves. Serve with lime wedges, sambal or chilli sauce and the reserved coriander and spring onions scattered on top.

A Playlist For Winter

A MUSICAL COLLECTION, CAPTIVATING THE SEASON SPECTACULARLY.

Winter can make you feel magical, from the top of your bobble hat to the souls of your fluffy socks. It could be the smell of a Christmas cake in the oven as it fills the home; or the feeling of a woolly scarf on your skin as it keeps the cold air out, or perhaps the perfect music to let you embrace winter and thoroughly enjoy the season. Whether you're waiting to see the first sprinkle of falling snow, or have already witnessed this truly wintry display, we hope this playlist will ignite that special feeling.

So, grab a seasonal hot drink, like a mulled wine or a gingerbread coffee, and snuggle up with these wintry tunes.

If you have Spotify search the playlist 'Moments For Winter Tunes' on the app to listen in.

FOR SPRING

It may seem far off now while you're enjoying the comfort of woolly hats and mulled wines, but sure enough, once we start to settle into 2018 we'll see the signs of spring soon to come. From the first shoots of daffodils growing from the depths of the soil, awakened by thawing frost; to clusters of blossom bursting out from the twig-like trees. Spring is the start of new life and longer warmer days to enjoy. We'll endeavour to envelop the essence of the season with our words and photography in our next 'moments' magazine.

To subscribe to 'Moments for Spring' please email us at moments@hammonds-uk.com and you'll be the first to receive a copy.
